Am I experiencing a Qualified Life Event? (Getting Health Insurance When Life Changes)

Hey. Are things a little different?

Are you with child?

So, are you with child?

Okay. Did you lose your job (and your health insurance)?

Did you turn 26 recently and lose your parents’ insurance?

This is awkward... are you getting divorced—and losing your spouse’s insurance?

Did you just put a ring on it?

Happy belated birthday!

Mazel tov!

Woot! You qualify for a special enrollment period. Go to HealthSourceRI.com to apply for health insurance!

But wait! There’s more...

This graphic was brought to you by the cool health policy nerds at Families USA, a consumer health care policy and advocacy organization and a valued partner of HSRI.

If you want to learn more about how to get insurance, and how to keep it once you’ve got it, check out our other stuff at www.FamiliesUSA.org/tools and at HealthSourceRI.com/individuals-and-families/resources/.

Carry on, but don’t forget about these special enrollment periods if things change for you. Check HealthSourceRI.com for any other changes that could give you a special enrollment period.

Did you know that you can sign up for insurance with HealthSource RI anytime during the year if there are big changes in your life?

#getcovered and #staycovered