

FAMILY ELIGIBILITY FOR PUBLIC ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

MONTHLY INCOME LIMITS

as of October 2020

Family Size	RI Works Unearned	SNAP <sup>1</sup>	WIC <sup>2</sup>	Subsidized Child Care	Rite Care/Share Parent	Rite Care/Share Children <sup>3</sup>	Rite Care/Share Pregnant Women <sup>3</sup>
1	$327	$1,968	$1,926	N/A	$1,499	$2,828	N/A
2	$449	$2,688	$2,607	$2,586	$2,026	$3,822	$3,707
3	$554	$3,349	$3,288	$3,258	$2,552	$4,815	$4,670
4	$634	$4,040	$3,970	$3,930	$3,079	$5,808	$5,633
5	$714	$4,730	$4,651	$4,602	$3,605	$6,801	$6,596
6	$794	$5,421	$5,333	$5,274	$4,131	$7,794	$7,559
7	$874	$6,112	$6,014	$5,946	$4,658	$8,787	$8,523
8	$954	$6,802	$6,695	$6,618	$5,184	$9,780	$9,486

* Children, parents and pregnant women who have income above the Rite Care/Share income limit can buy health insurance coverage through HealthSource RI and receive help paying for the premium if income is less than four times the poverty level.

Resource Limits

RI Works: $1,000
 SNAP: None
 WIC: None
 Child Care: $10,000 liquid assets
 Rite Care/Share: None

<sup>1</sup> There is also a "net income" limit for SNAP benefits. For households with a disabled or senior family member, there is no gross income test, just a net income limit.

<sup>2</sup> For WIC a pregnant woman counts as two. Children and pregnant women receiving Rite Care are considered "Income eligible" for WIC.

<sup>3</sup> A pregnant woman counts as a household size dependent on the number of babies she is carrying. For example, a single woman pregnant with twins counts as a household size of three. A parent of one child who is pregnant with twins is a household size of four, for both her eligibility and the eligibility of her child

FAMILY ELIGIBILITY FOR PUBLIC ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS
YEARLY INCOME LIMITS
as of October 2020

Family Size	RI Works Unearned	SNAP <sup>1</sup>	WIC <sup>2</sup>	Subsidized Child Care	Rite Care/Share Parent	Rite Care/Share Children <sup>3</sup>	Rite Care/Share Pregnant Women <sup>3</sup>
1	$3,924	$23,616	$23,107	N/A	$17,992	$33,942	N/A
2	$5,388	$32,256	$31,284	$31,032	$24,308	$45,858	$44,479
3	$6,648	$40,188	$39,461	$39,096	$30,625	$57,775	$56,038
4	$7,608	$48,480	$47,638	$47,160	$36,942	$69,692	$67,596
5	$8,568	$56,760	$55,815	$55,224	$43,259	$81,609	$79,154
6	$9,528	$65,052	$63,992	$63,288	$49,576	$93,526	$90,713
7	$10,488	$73,344	$72,169	$71,352	$55,892	$105,442	$102,271
8	$11,448	$81,624	$80,346	$79,416	$62,209	$117,359	$113,830

* Children, parents and pregnant women who have income above the Rite Care/Share income limit can buy health insurance coverage through HealthSource RI and receive help paying for the premium if income is less than four times the poverty level.

Resource Limits

RI Works: $1,000
 SNAP: None
 WIC: None
 Child Care: $10,000 liquid assets
 Rite Care/Share: None

<sup>1</sup> There is also a "net income" limit for SNAP benefits. For households with a disabled or senior family member, there is no gross income test, just a net income limit.

<sup>2</sup>For WIC a pregnant woman counts as two. Children and pregnant women receiving Rite Care are considered "Income eligible" for WIC.

<sup>3</sup> A pregnant woman counts as a household size dependent on the number of babies she is carrying. For example, a single woman pregnant with twins counts as a household size of three. A parent of one child who is pregnant with twins is a household size of four, for both her eligibility and the eligibility of her child