

TAX INCENTIVE DISCLOSURE AND ACCOUNTABILITY

September 2008

During the 2008 General Assembly Session, Senator M. Teresa Paiva-Weed and Representative Peter L. Lewiss introduced legislation to require greater disclosure and accountability of tax credits received by corporations. This legislation was passed and signed by Governor Donald L. Carcieri. The legislation required that information about these tax credits be released in three phases. Phase One, just released by the Department of Revenue, listed names and addresses of the recipients and the amount of the tax credits received during the previous fiscal year.

In the following, The Poverty Institute provides a summary of each of the six categories of the credits reported. In each subsection, entitled CRITERIA, you will find a description of what a corporation must do in order to qualify for the credit.

Phase One does not provide any analysis of the credits. This will come in Phases Two and Three.

Phase One: List of Tax Incentive Credits

◆ Rhode Island Economic Development Corporation Project Status (RIGL 42-64-10)

TAX CREDIT: Provides for a sales and use tax exemption for the cost of construction materials and furnishings related to Economic Development projects.

TAXES IMPACTED: Sales and Use Tax

APPROVAL: A finding of the Rhode Island Economic Development Corporation (RIEDC). In addition approval by the General Assembly (since 2006) is needed.

CRITERIA: The finding must include a statement "That the acquisition or construction and operation of the project will prevent, eliminate, or reduce unemployment or underemployment in the state and will generally benefit economic development of the state." In 2007 the RIEDC, working with the General Assembly, established criteria that go beyond the law. In order to qualify a corporation must create more than 100 new full time jobs. "Full-time jobs with benefits" means jobs that require working a minimum of thirty (30) hours per week within the state, with a medium wage that exceeds by 5.0% the median annual wage for full-time jobs in Rhode Island or within the lessee's industry, with a benefit package that is typical of companies within the lessee's industry. Finally the loss of sales tax revenue due to the exemption cannot exceed the amount of personal income tax revenue generated by the new full time jobs over the next three fiscal years. These new criteria do not apply to previously approved exemptions. Since 2007 only two new projects have been approved. Prior to 2007 EDC did require the 100 job requirement, but this requirement did not contain the same criteria nor definitions.

TOTAL REPORTED: 13 recipients, $18.2 million. Average per Recipient: $1.4 million.

◆ Incentive for Innovation and Growth (RIGL 44-63-3)

TAX CREDIT: A credit equal to 50% of any investment made in the company, but in no case shall the amount exceed $100,000. Prior to passage of the FY2009 Budget, RIEDC was authorized to approve no more than $2.0 million in credit applications during any two (2) calendar year period. This was changed to limit approvals to $1.0 million during any two (2) calendar year period.

TAXES IMPACTED: The credit can be claimed against the Business Corporations Tax, Franchise Tax or the Personal Income Tax.

APPROVAL: RIEDC

CRITERIA: “Only companies with business primarily in those industries or trades, identified by the corporation upon advisory resolution of the Rhode Island Science and Technology Advisory Council as ‘Innovation Industries’ producing traded good or services, shall be eligible for the Incentives for Innovation and Growth.” As currently identified companies must be categorized as one of the following innovation industries: Biotechnology and Life Sciences; Communication and Information Technology; Financial Services; Marine and Defense Manufacturing; Professional, Technical and Educational Services; Industrial and Consumer Product Manufacturing and Design. "Qualified innovative company" means any business entity formed or registered to conduct business under the laws of the state of Rhode Island that ... has in the prior two (2) calendar years had annual gross revenues of less than one million dollars ($1,000,000).”

Under current law the tax credit is scheduled to sunset on December 31, 2016.

TOTAL REPORTED: 4 recipients, $300,000. Average per Recipient: $75,000.

◆ Jobs Development Act (RIGL 42-64.5)

TAX CREDIT: Non Telecommunications Companies – The credit is calculated by multiplying 0.25% by the number of units of new employment for the third taxable year following the base employment period. The rate reduction is limited to 6%.

Telecommunications Companies – The credit is calculated by multiplying 0.1% by the number of units of new employment for the third taxable year following the base employment period. The rate reduction is limited to 1%.

TAXES IMPACTED: The “credit” or rate reduction can be applied to the current tax rates of 9.0% for business corporations, financial institutions; 2.0% on insurance companies; and 5% on telecommunication companies. Example -- A large business corporation who has 1,200 new FTEs therefore has 24 units of new employment ($1,200 / 50 = 24$). Each unit multiplied by 0.25% means a rate reduction of 6%. This company’s corporate income tax rate is reduced from 9% to 3%. This would be a 66.6% reduction in the tax rate.

APPROVAL: RIEDC

CRITERIA: For small businesses, defined as less than 100 Full Time Equivalent (FTE) employees a units of employment is the number of FTE employees divided by 10. For all other businesses a units of employment is the number of FTE employees divided by 50. A FTE is defined as one who: (1) works a minimum of 30 hours per week within the State, or two or more part-time employees whose combined weekly hours equal or exceed thirty 30 hours per week within the State; and (2) earns no less than 150% of the hourly minimum wage prescribed by Rhode Island law. As of January 1, 2007 the Rhode Island Minimum Wage is $7.40 per hour. Therefore 150% of that wage is $11.25 per hour. At 40 hours per week this is an annual wage of $23,088.

TOTAL REPORTED: 12 recipients, $21.0 million. Average per Recipient: $1.75 million.
